

In Loving Memory of

Mike Turner

Jazz Musician and Amiable Cove

XVIII.V. MCMXLV – XX.III.MMIX

Order of Service

Friday 1st May 2009, Bushbury Crematorium

Live Jazz – Eric Newton, Jake Reeves and Harri Forelius

Welcome

Tribute by Humanist Celebrant

Radio tribute by Mel Hill, jazz musician and friend

Music – ‘Que reste-t-il de nos amours?’ - The Old Fashioned Love Band, featuring the late, great Mike Turner

Tributes from friends – John Grant, John Southall and Linda Keirle

Reflection

Music – ‘Blood count’ - Duke Ellington and his Orchestra

Committal

Closing Words

Live Jazz – Bruce Adams Ensemble

Marty DiBergi (filmmaker): "If I were to ask you, what your philosophy of life is, or your creed, what would that be?"

Viv Savage (keyboards): "Have a good time, all the time....that's my philosophy, Marty."

Marty DiBergi: "If you were to have something written as your epitaph.....?"

David St Hubbins (Lead Guitar): "Here lies David St Hubbins.....and why not?"

Marty DiBergi: ".....You feel that sums up your life?"

David St Hubbins: "No, it's the first thing I could think of, it really doesn't sum up anything, really."

Marty DiBergi: "Oh, I see...yes."

This is Spinal Tap

Monika, Katharine and Isabelle would like to invite you back to The Trumpet pub in Bilston after the service, for a day of good food, excellent beer and live jazz, in remembrance of Mike.

Mike called the Trumpet his "spiritual home".

Not only a talented jazz musician and a great mate, but also a wonderful husband and a truly, truly unbeatable dad.

The Trumpet

58 High Street

Bilston

WV14 0EP

All donations will be used to enable the Trumpet to continue to bring world class jazz to the West Midlands by inviting guest musicians and staging special events.

(All cheques should be made payable to L.Clement, Events Administrator)

Co-operative Funeral Services, 9 Market Place, Willenhall WV13 2AA

Tel: 01902 602525